

ENGLISH OAK RECRUITMENT

NEWS UPDATE

No.4

May 2009

AN OPPORTUNITY NOT TO BE MISSED!

If you will have 120 ECTS credits – or more – by Summer 2009, you have the chance to study in England for one year to obtain a bachelor's degree.

What an opportunity! Study for a quality degree that could give you a vital advantage when seeking the perfect job – and have a wonderful time exploring the beautiful countryside and historic sights of England. Stratford on Avon, York, Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle, London.... so many things to see and do!

Our universities have an enviable reputation and our campuses are modern and superbly equipped. The top-up courses are specially designed for international students like you, so don't miss out on this once in a lifetime opportunity.

For more information contact us NOW!

alanhallett@hotmail.co.uk
www.englishoakrecruitment.co.uk

Remember: all applications must be received by 24 July.

WHAT TO EAT (AND DRINK) IN ENGLAND

England has a wide range of traditional foods that every visitor should sample:

Roast beef and Yorkshire Pudding

– the traditional Sunday dinner

Fish and chips – bought from a 'chippie' and eaten as you walk along the street

Cornish pasty – a very special pie filled with meat and vegetables

Sausage and mash – very different to the average European sausage!

Chelsea bun/Chorley Cake/Eccles Cake – tasty sweet cakes

And to drink?

Bitter (beer) – hundreds of different types and tastes

Cider – very popular, made from apples or pears

Vimto – traditional fruit drink

Ginger Beer – non-alcoholic

...and of course we do tend to drink an enormous amount of tea (with milk!)

THE ENGLISH WEATHER

No, it is not always raining in England! We enjoy a temperate climate: warm in Summer, cool in Winter, but we rarely experience extreme conditions.

An average of 35 inches of rain per year means we have some of the greenest and most beautiful countryside in Europe. From low fenlands to high hills, from rolling downland to pretty, fertile valleys, England has something to offer everyone.

Come and explore the rolling hills, thick hedges, patterns of fields, dry stone walls and delightful woodland: an experience never to be forgotten!

English Corner

A dog's breakfast = a tangled mess